Please find included a concept for one of our search pages. This concept features a grid of members with some basic controls and features. Nothing too complicated! We want to see how you would markup and style this page.

Please produce a working prototype remembering to document your thought process, the techniques you have used and how you would improve on your code if you were given more time and resources. Remember, cross browser support, responsive design and take advantage of HTML5 and CSS3!

Now if you want to do your research and see what these pages look like now, sign up and login to Singles365 and give the product a go for yourself!
